Already they are calling it "The Son of David," and Mr. Stephen Phillips's new play will not be published until the end of this week! However, the title has been changed fairly often; two years ago it was announced as "David and Bathsheba," three months ago as "Miriam," or "The Son of David," and now it is to be published under the title of "The Son of David." The title indicates the book's theme; the play relates a similar episode in the army of Cromwell, with a dramatic climax essentially modern.

pany will publish soon, sets forth an array of facts likely to startle the American people. In times of prosperity 10,000,000 persons are underfed, underclothed, and insanitarily housed. Here are some of Mr. Hunter's figures; 1903—20 per cent of the people of Boston in distress.

1897—19 per cent of the people of New York State in distress.

1899—18 per cent of the people of New York State in distress.

1903—14 per cent of the families of Manhattan evicted.

Every year, 10 per cent (about) of those who die in Manhattan have pauper burials.

Men-of-War Chase Bathers From Water

Cold weather has not been the only cause of the absence of bathing at the bathhouses lately. During the southerly weather millions of "Portuguese men-of-war" were blown into port and congregated in the comparatively smooth water near the boat houses. These little creatures have a sting similar to that of the squid, and for a day or two made it warm for daring bathers. The latter finally retired before the army of little water warriors, and since then the latter have been given a clear field. Since the weather changed they have been disappearing, presumably returning again to the open sea.

The "Portuguese man-of-war" is a common but peculiar specimen of sea life. The body is about five inches long, thin and worm-like. Back of the head is a sail, much like that of a yacht's mainsail, which is raised, shifted and lowered at the will of the midship mariner. The tail and body make up the steering apparatus, in fair or foul weather. Beneath the body of the little creature is a continuation of little needles which enter an object and sting like the business weapons of a centipede.

With the Sporting Men

WITH THE BASEBALL CROWD.

Willie Keeler takes exception to "Pop" Anson's statements regarding the "spit" ball. Keeler says: "That spit ball is not an old delivery under a new name, and it's not easy to hit. I'll vouch for that on my own experience. Anson is right about the ball taking an upward course when it is all wet. A pitcher can't control it and he can't pitch a curve ball, but has to depend on a change of pace or do the best he can. It's different with the spit ball, however. The pitcher wets the index and middle fingers and then throws the ball with all his might. It's a crazy ball, because it's likely to go either to the right or left or down. Even the pitcher doesn't know where it's going exactly, nor the catcher either. They just try to block it. The batter? Well, he doesn't have any show at all. The first time I saw it used was when I was with the Baltimore team. Bowerman had it and used it in practice, but nobody paid much attention to it. Chesbro was the first to get control of it. He seldom used anything but the spit ball, and a fast one, during last season. He pitched six straight games without using a curve last season, using nine spit balls out of ten pitched balls. Willie's tenth was a fast one. That was during the time he won fourteen straight."

Norwood Gibson has signed with the Boston Americans and the club now has Cy Young, Billy Dineen and Gibson in line, with Jesse Tannehill to hear from.

The Boston Nationals have ten pitchers on their staff: Fraser, Willis, Wilhelm, Dressler, Young, Fisher, McNichol, Volz, Harley and Hershey. Of these at least five will be retained.

Detroit is said to be looking for a deal with Pitcher Frank Kison. It is claimed it takes the ex-Brooklynite too long to get into condition to suite the Detroit management.

Boston fans are asking "what is to become of Jim Delahanty," now that Harry Wolverton has been secured by the Boston Nationals. "The only Del's" brother led the team in batting last season.

Hughey Jennings is now a full fledged lawyer and has a case on the calendar of a Baltimore court. If Jennings proves as good a lawyer as he was a ball player he will do, because glass arms don't count in the law.

Pat Donovan declares he has no idea where he will be next season. He has not yet accepted the offer of $5,000, to manage the Providence Club, because he does not know what the Washington Club has in store for him.

Outfielder Billy Lush, of the Cleveland Naps, is wanted to coach the Yale ball-players until July 1. The club has four other outfielders and Lush can accept the Elia's contract if he wishes to.

Arthur Ragan, the Southern League pitcher, who was given a trial last season by Cincinnati and shipped back to Texas, led the pitchers of the Southern. Ragan is to have another trial in fast company, this time with the St. Louis Browns.

ON THE GOLF LINKS.

Flat golf courses with bunkers laid out mathematically are becoming less and less popular. When high-class golfers meet over links of this nature, the play becomes too monotonous.

The talk of enlarging the cups has been revived in some circles. These in favor of the proposed change claim that with wider holes much time would be saved, especially when the links were crowded. It would also do away with much of the dissatisfaction in match play caused by the stytle at present. With larger holes almost any stytle could be negotiated with a reasonable element of certainty.

Golf is enjoying rapid advancement in Australia. Several of the important clubs now own their own links.

At the present rate the young women are "stepping off" it will not be long before all the leading women golfers will be married. Miss J. Anna Carpenter, admitted to be about the best player in the West, is the next on the list. Her engagement to Vernon James Hall, of Evanston, has been announced. Hall is a professor of chemistry at the Northwestern University.

Two professionals, George Braid, of St. Paul, and James Herd, of Washington Park, recently played a match by moonlight. Both made the eighteen holes in 83. Braid getting one stroke more than bogie.

Winter golf schools are more numerous than ever in Greater New York this season. Boston also has one, under the management of David Brown, runner-up in the open championship of 1903.

There is a movement on foot to organize a women's golf association of the Pacific Coast. It would include such bodies as the Los Angeles, Pasadena and Claremont Country Clubs and the Linda Vista Club, of San Jose.

LAST YEAR'S GOLF RECORD.

In golf Walter J. Travis won the amateur championship of Great Britain and H. Chandler Egan that of the United States. Miss Georgiana Bishop won the tenth women's amateur championship of the United States.

Jack White won the open championship of England and H. L. Boyd the Jubilee Cup at St. Andrew's Scotland. Dr. G. O. Walker, an American, won the championship of Germany.

New York golfers defeated Philadelphia in the inter-city tourney, and American women won the international event with Canadian women.

YALE INDOOR ATHLETES.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 24.—Arrangements have been made by Capt. McLanahan, of the Yale track team, to enter his squad extensively in the indoor meets throughout the East this season. As many invitations for meets as deemed practicable will be accepted, the policy being to thus develop the team for the intercollegiate meet and the big dual meet with Harvard.

The first outside meet to which Yale will send a team will be the Troy Y. M. C. A. games, in which Yale will have a two-mile relay team, some runners and weight-throwers.

On Feb. 15 Yale will send a team to the Boston A. A. races, tackling Harvard again in the annual indoor relay contest. According to the terms of the Yale-Harvard race, which has just been arranged for this year, each runner will go 390 yards. Yale will also send athletes to the indoor meets at Buffalo and New York.

The preliminary announcement of the meet under the University of Pennsylvania auspices at Franklin

Field, Philadelphia, given annually as a relay carnival, has just been received at Yale. It is certain that Yale will send down two, and probably three, teams. Yale's best long-distance men for the relay teams are C. B. Alcott and W. J. Hall; her star middle distance man is E. B. Hill, who broke the world's half-mile record at Buffalo last winter, and her best sprinters are R. J. Terrey and R. L. Twitchell. Training for the track men will begin in the gymnasium as soon as the winter term begins, Jan. 13.

AUTO SPEED INDICATOR.

Among the recent inventions for use on automobiles is an indicator that not alone shows the distance travelled, but also the speed of the car. It is attachable to the dashboard of any type of car. The operator can see constantly the speed attained and the distance travelled.

By a series of different gears the invention may be adapted to any standard wheel of from 28 to 36 inches in diameter. The change is made by simply removing a cotter pin and changing the smaller gear for one of a different diameter and number of teeth.

The instrument with three-inch dial registers speed to fifty miles an hour; with the four-inch dial the speed is registered to one hundred miles, and both instruments show the cumulative mileage travelled to 10,000 miles, in miles and tenths.

McGOVERN'S PLANS.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 29.—Terry McGovern, who came here today, declares he will not fight until the end of his theatrical season and that then he will get after Jimmy Britt and will challenge him to fight. McGovern said Britt's cleverness would just suit him, as he has not yet found a clever boxer whom he cannot force to fight at close range and points to his easy victories over Erne and Gans. He praised Young Corbett and said he hoped the reports were true that his two-time victor was going to take care of him.

DUFFEY TO AUSTRALIA.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Arthur F. Duffey, of Washington, who holds the world's 100-yard sprinting record at 9.25 seconds, has gone to Australia to compete with athletes there.

Duffey during the past four years has won the championship in the United States, England, Scotland, Ireland and France. He will meet all comers in Australia.

His tour will be under the management of Mr. Herbert, the well-known English sporting authority. They will go through the Suez Canal, returning by way of the Philippines and San Francisco.

The art of natation made rapid strides in 1904, many performances being characteristic of this wonderful progress. "While the American swimmers are gradually forging into the front line they are not as yet the equals the Australians and English," says an authority on swimming in the World Almanac.

One of the best records of the year was that of Dan. B. Renear at Honolulu in November, who was credited with 100 yards straightaway in still water in 1 minute flat, a new world's record, by something over a full second. B. Keran, of Australia, a mere boy, was the brilliant star of 1904. He came suddenly into prominence and set up an almost entire set of new open-water records, from 500 yards to one mile, which he covered in 24m. 36 1-5s.

American interest centers in C. M. Daniels, the young champion of the N. Y. A. C., who made two new open-water records of 110 yards in 1m. 16s. and 200 yards in 2m. 44 1-5s.

A record of considerable interest was that in relay racing by a team of four men from the N. Y. A. C. The distance was 200 yards, each man to swim 50 yards, the full time being 1:55.25. In Australia five men covered 500 yards, each swimming 100 yards, in 5:17.25, which was a truly marvelous performance.
